Book of Wonders: Activity Book has been produced in collaboration with The Faraday Institute for Science and Religion. The Faraday Institute is an interdisciplinary research and communication enterprise linked to the University of Cambridge. Their Youth and Schools Team are committed to providing high-quality events and resources that encourage young people of all backgrounds to explore the interactions of science and religious faith in exciting and engaging ways. They think it's really important that all young people are able to search for answers to any and all of their questions, at any age.

This project and publication were made possible through the support of a grant from the John Templeton Foundation. The opinions expressed in this publication are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the John Templeton Foundation.

NOTE FOR PARENTS AND CARERS

Thanks for buying the Book of Wonders: Activity Book! Your child should be able to do most of the fun stuff themselves, but you might need to give them a hand every now and then. All the materials they need should be readily available. There are one or two things you might need to buy, but they're fairly cheap and are available online or at your local DIY store. If you haven't already got the Book of Wonders, you can buy it from scriptureunion.org.uk
